PROJECT ROCKLANDS

Youth bouldering tours 2027

WILDERNESS MOVEMENT CLASSROOM

The unique sandstone formations of South Africa forces technical mastery. Develop raw power, friction management, and spatial awareness.

MINIMAL PLANNING, MAXIMUM PERFORMANCE

All South African logistics taken care of when athletes arrive, allowing them to be rested and ready to hit the rock at peak capacity on Day 1.

BUDGET-FRIENDLY, WORLD-CLASS DESTINATION

Private accommodation, team transport, and park permits cost a fraction of European / American winter destinations.

CHAPERONE DISCOUNT!

We know sending your child alone on an international climbing trip is daunting, and these once-in-a-lifetime trips are always better when shared.

We offer a discounted Chaperone ticket for committed parents and guardians to join the team and experience South Africa.

ITINERARY SNAPSHOT:

Days 1–2: Arrival in Cape Town | Land in Cape Town. Check into a secure team guest house. Light active recovery sessions and tactical movement training at Krag Sentrale (the Cape's premier climbing training facility).

Days 3–5: Mountain conditioning & bouldering volume | 3 days exploring Table Mountain Peninsula sectors. High-volume outdoor sessions to build baseline fitness before heading to the wilderness.

Day 5: Transit | Scenic 3-hour private team drive north into the Ced. Settle into Eight day Rain guest farm in the heart of Rocklands.

Days 7–11: Rocklands Phase 1: High Volume & Friction | 5 days of high-volume bouldering. Focus on sandstone movement mastery, conditioning and exposure to as many different boulders as possible.

Day 12: Mid-Trip Active Recovery | Rest day. Guided trek to ancient San rock art sites, swimming in natural river pools, and a traditional team outdoor braai (BBQ).

Days 13–19: Rocklands Phase 2: High-Performance Projecting | 7 days focused on limit bouldering, redpoint tactics, and mental performance mastery, returning to old projects and refining movement skills.

Day 20: Final Wrap-Up & Departure | Morning team debrief, private transit back to Cape Town International Airport, and overnight flight back to Switzerland.
